Re: Dr. Carl C. Seltzer

Dr. Seltzer has advised that he must retire from his position at Harvard University, School of Public Health, effective June 30, 1976.

Dr. Seltzer has the opportunity to continue his research work in constitution and disease at the Peabody Museum (a department of Harvard University). Dr. Stephen Williams, Director of the Peabody Museum, has indicated that appropriate arrangements can be made. Such arrangements would be quite similar to those previously maintained at the Harvard University, School of Public Health. The total cost for one year's support from July 1, 1976, through June 30, 1977, would be $50,000. This sum includes a 15 percent "overhead" allocation to the Peabody Museum. Dr. Seltzer's salary, secretarial assistance, purchase or leasing of certain equipment, telephone service, etc., would be paid from the balance of these funds.

We feel that Dr. Seltzer's work is important and that his contributions to the world literature merit continued support as a CTR Special Project. Mr. Rockett concurs with our evaluation.

We would appreciate learning of your decision in this matter at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely,

cc: Donald K. Noel
